Evolution Markets Named Best Carbon and Renewable Energy Broker
in 2018 Environmental Finance Annual Survey

White Plains, NY (December 17, 2018): Evolution Markets has been recognized as “Best Broker” in global carbon and renewable energy markets in the 19th Annual Market Rankings published by Environmental Finance magazine. Overall, the company was named best broker in five categories. The Environmental Finance survey is the leading benchmark for traders, brokers, and other service providers in global environmental trading markets. The rankings are determined by votes from active market participants.

“This year has been notable for the resurgence of trading activity in established environmental markets in Europe and the United States,” said Andrew Ertel, President and CEO of Evolution Markets Inc. “Evolution Markets has been at the forefront of these markets since their inception, and this deep experience has defined the service we offer our clients. In return, the market continues to honor our brokers in the Environmental Finance survey.”

Evolution Markets’ honors in the annual survey include being named “Best Broker” in the following categories:

- Best Broker, Spot & Futures – North American Carbon Markets (California)
- Best Broker, Options – North American Carbon Markets (California)
- Best Broker, North American Carbon Markets (RGGI)
- Best Broker, Spot & Futures – EU Emissions Trading Scheme
- Best Broker, Renewable Energy Certificates (North America)

“We are honored by the Best Broker distinctions awarded this year by market participants, which includes our customers and peers, and we thank them for the recognition,” added Mr. Ertel. “The scope of global carbon and renewable energy markets will continue to grow in 2019, and we look forward to continuing to serve the marketplace.”
