Evolution Markets Hires Colleen Capel as Chief People Officer

White Plains, NY (June 29, 2022): Evolution Markets announced that Colleen Capel will join the company as its first Chief People Officer, effective immediately. Capel will be part of Evolution Markets' executive leadership team reporting to CEO Evan Ard. She brings a long history of success in human resources, cultivating talent and enriching company culture for over 20 years. Capel joins Evolution Markets from Wiley, S&P Global Market Intelligence, and JP Morgan Chase, where she held various Human Resources Executive roles and contributed to many successful business and HR transformations, corporate mergers, acquisitions, and divestitures.

As Evolution Markets continues to grow its global workforce to support the core business and strategic expansion of services in the sustainability and energy transition sectors, the firm's commitment to its employees' development and growth remains a priority. Capel will help scale all elements of the organization and will implement strategies to develop and promote best practices in human resources management, organizational development, talent management and talent acquisition. She will also have a focus on company culture and employee engagement as Evolution Markets continues to grow its global workforce.

"To best serve our customers and the markets, we need to invest in our people first," said Evan Ard, Chief Executive Officer of Evolution Markets Inc. "Having Colleen in this new role will help us find and develop the talent necessary to achieve our business goals. Colleen will also be an essential force in driving the overall growth of the company over the next few years."

"The historic challenges we have faced during the pandemic reveal how the relationship between people and their work has changed. Having the right talent strategy is critical to supporting Evolution Markets people and driving growth. I am excited to have the opportunity to differentiate Evolution Markets as an employer of choice, lead talent into the future and to be part of a team with sustainability core to its mission," said Capel.
